

RED-LORED AMAZON

(Amazona autumnalis)

This medium-sized parrot inhabits the forests of Mexico and Central America. It is about 13 inches (33 cm) long and mostly green in color. It also has a red forehead, light blue crown, and yellow cheek patches. They eat fruits, nuts, and seeds from up in the trees where they perch. They lay 3 to 4 eggs that hatch after 26 days and the chicks leave the nest after about 60 days of age.
