About the Author

The AFA Fundamentals of Aviculture classes are written by Rick Jordan and include contributions from a wide variety of experienced avian experts from the field of aviculture.

presented in nine chapters ranging from anatomy and physiology to avian behavior; from laws and regulations affecting aviculture to how to provide proper housing and prevent illness of birds in our care; and much, much more.

The AFA Fundamentals of Aviculture Level II Course (RACE Program no. 8492) is offered in fifteen chapters ranging from conservation and research; from basic avian genetics and mutations to breeding stimuli; from incubation and hatching to hand-rearing; from non-parrot studies to basic microbiology; and more.

Rick is a well known author and has published four full-length books on various aspects of avian biology and husbandry. Additionally he is a sought after lecturer on any subject to do with psittacine aviculture.

Students must complete FOA Level I before advancing to FOA Level II.

The RACE committee has awarded 12 CEU credits for FOA I and 15 CEU credits for FOA II.

Although Jordan is the primary author of the course, he has included contributions from some of the most knowledgeable people in the field, making these courses a compilation of avicultural experience found nowhere else in print.
